Introduction

To an ever increasing degree Brookline High School is "a union now and forever, one and inseparable." This year we of the Murivian Staff have chosen the United Nations as a theme to convey recognition of the unity in our school. We have assumed in many portions of the book the names of corresponding organizations and countries of the U. N. in order to clearly show the development of our own activities. Of greater importance, however, we sense the need to identify ourselves with the principles of the United Nations if we are to become contributing citizens in a world society.

DEDICATION

Dedication

In recognition of the high standards that you personify, in appreciation for the impartiality and the sincerity that you have shown to us throughout our four years here, in deep gratitude for the many times that you have worked side by side with us, and in tribute to the way you have dedicated yourself to the betterment of each one of us, we lovingly dedicate the 1954 MURIVIAN to you, Miss Murdock, with the hope that in this tangible way we may express our thanks.

Editorial Staff

We are happy to open the doors of 121. We're tired of keeping this Muddy River Annual out of circulation for so long and turning away the many curious passers-by. During the stretch from September to May we have been struggling with ideas for a new layout, a different approach to write-ups, and more effective photography: in sum, for a treasurable memoir of Brookline High School. We hope that through our guidance next year's staff, which has now completed its worthy apprenticeship, will be as successful as we feel we have been. Success was ours in the form of an enjoyably cooperative experience and a happy culmination of our greatest contribution to the high school.

Business Staff

Everyone has different interests. That of the Business Staff chances to be the strange desire for money. Marty, Steve, and Company are the practical bankers for the MURIVIAN publications. They stand with Mr. Bates as the more conservative element in yearbook work, and they find it occasionally necessary to remind the carefree Editorial crew of the importance of frugality. The large sums of money gathered as a result of successful advertising are brought to Room 309 where the Business Staff happily assigns each dollar bill to cover the heavy expenses. On account of their accurate and honest handling of responsibilities, the Murivian Business Staff may look forward comfortably to relative prosperity again next year.

SCHOOL COMMITTEE

ROW 1: Mrs. Burack, Mrs. Pinanski, Dr. Kendrick, Dr. Seltzer, Mrs. Peabody, Miss O'Brien. ROW 2: Mr. Hickey, Mr. Burr, Mr. Noonan, Dr. Caverly, Dr. Hendricks.

SCHOOL SPIRIT
MOGER

Security Council at B. H. S.

The School Council has acted very wisely this year. Instead of moving from one subject to another and accomplishing little or nothing, the Council has concentrated on one main development and several minor ones. The point system, which has long been noticeable by its absence, is entirely dependent upon the honor of the students. According to this system no one would hold more than one important post, and perhaps, several minor ones. Such a system will give more people a chance to develop as leaders. Walter Yusen, president of the Council, was one of the students who governed Massachusetts for a day. Walter and his associates may well be proud of the service that they have rendered to the future leaders of Brookline High.

Trusteeship Council

At the end of the last war the territories formerly ruled by the Axis powers came under the aegis of the U.N. Trusteeship Council. As these countries increase their knowledge of democratic government, they are given a freer hand in controlling their own destiny.

On Wednesday, October 13, 1953, Alphi Pi initiated several new members who, in the last three years, had commendably managed their personal responsibilities. The induction was preceded by the introductory speech of President David Silbert. As some countries are being recognized for their development by the U.N. Trusteeship Council, so it is that worthy students are being welcomed for theirs by Alpha Pi.

B. H. S. Forum

To openly air grievances, complaints, and questions before one another is one of the best ways to avoid war. Whether it means arguing in the General Assembly of the United Nations with another nation or discussing a matter of local or national significance in the Student Forum, the airing of one's thoughts is most conducive to a peaceful existence with one's neighbors. At a November meeting of the Student Forum, Mr. Elliot and Mr. Shryver debated on the Arab-Israeli question which has plagued the U.N. since 1947. As long as there are some people who can still talk without hurling insults and lies, there is a good chance for preserving peace and unity.

Court of Justice

There I stood, alone against the school. Steve Adamson was seated above me, glaring down hungrily for the opportunity of sounding his gavel for it hadn't been used often this year. I looked around and I saw the prosecuting attorney step down, turn his marshal band around once, and begin a tirade of words which made no sense for I couldn't hear. He pleaded very eloquently for the school v.s. Average Student.

The trial is over now, I am guilty and I must pay the price. But I have learnt my lesson; next time I'll know "crime doesn't pay!"

Arm of Law--Marshal Force

Generally, supervisors and policemen do not ride high in the popularity polls. Lucky is he who can break up a fight and still prevent the tide of general opinion from turning against him. Need we mention that poor marshal who must wander into the prefabricated smoking rooms to convince certain individuals of the law against smoking? One must concede that those who take up the marshal band are courageous souls, willing to be the object of much resentment if they try in some way to prevent the lunchroom and corridors from becoming places of utter bedlam.

Their letters clarify varying educational interests and international ideas. In stimulating free trade of ideas, the students have encouraged an important step towards a prosperous world society.

Committee for Advancing the Status of Women

The Committee for Advancing the Status of Women fights against the male and his domineering policies. However, it seems that women among each other, guard their interests very carefully, as is demonstrated by the actions of the Girls' League.

The Christmas season is one of the busiest for the league and the meeting in December always promises to make sparks fly. This year the apportioning of tickets for the Christmas Formal worried the lower classes, while the seniors fought valiantly for their traditional right to the greatest number of tickets. As always the seniors won and retained their inalienable privileges.

Law and Human Rights Commission

"I am to understand, my worthy opponent, that you contend that man is born naturally equal in capacity and in opportunity. That this conception is false I have no doubt. However, I want you to recognize this natural inequality so that you will move forward to lessen the injustices."

To debate as did the above speaker is a human right; to conform to procedure and respectable language is a law of debating. Earlier in the year the human rights program of the Debating Society listed a question on the McCarran Immigration Act. It is noteworthy that the debators considered this law, because many think foreigners should be admitted into our country on a fairer basis. Arguments, indirectly or directly, involving human rights and laws are forever to be disputed. What better opportunity is there to exchange views than on the debating floor.

Money, money, in the bank, thou art the fairest sum of all. This is the interscholastic cry of the Bank Staff every two weeks when they congregate to count and tabulate the returns. The Silas Marners of B. H. S. are the juniors and seniors who glory in the right to handle the money of the school.

Another monetary organization which safeguards the deposits of nations is the International Bank of the U.N. This fact, if no other, proves that people everywhere have something in common, thrift and foresight.

It seems that few people know what the Central Treasury is or what it does. Let it be known that the chief purpose of this organization is to collect and disperse the funds of the various school activities.

All the money of the different student organizations is processed by the Central Treasury in much the same manner that the deposits of the different nations are channeled through the International Monetary Fund. Under the guidance of Mr. Ehnes, all money, whether from banking, club treasuries, or profit-making functions, is carefully safe-guarded until a future need arises.

Great as the United Nations is, it still needs its research workers and assistants who rarely show themselves except to lend aid or advice. STAGE TECHNICIANS

December 10, 1953. Thursday evening was a big night at Brookline High. After working together for many weeks, the Dramatic Society and the Stage and Electrical Staff were ready to produce Goodbye My Fancy. At six o'clock Leo Price, Marc Cortell, and the crew checked the lights and made a few last minute adjustments. Backstage collisions, swaying scenery, and other mishaps were quickly remedied. Despite such minor headaches, the Staff did a fine job in making this play a big success.

An extremely important item on UNESCO's agenda is education. The real UNESCO is found in the schools where friends help each other to find out what is necessary for the maintenance of peace. The library may be considered the ideal place to learn what the people of the world are striving for in the Charter of the United Nations.

Library Aides help students to look up obscure facts or persons, and to find books in their remote archives. They are a fine example of UNESCO in its field of education. Because they freely contribute so much of their time to others, they are very deserving of our earnest thanks.

Atomic Energy Commission

In a world seeking to live democratically, it is not right for the great and wealthy nations alone to have access to scientific gains. The Atomic Energy Commission is attempting to remedy this great injustice by formulating a plan whereby the wealthier nations can donate atomic power to their poorer neighbors.

PHYSICS INSTITUTE

An article recently noted in a magazine stated that each graduate of a certain technical school has an average of three well-paying job offers. That article will apply to some of the members of the school's Physics Club. There is a wide demand for engineers, chemists and physicists. In four years Brookline High may be able to proudly claim as her graduates, a group of able scientists, prepared to continue the job of controlling atomic energy for the benefit of the United States and the free world.

Within the past two decades the chemical industry has grown immeasurably, making wide scientific advancements. The tanks of alcohol, of particular interest to some, were being processed three times before they would be ready for use. Such a meeting should serve to remind us that "chemistry" has not become just a synonym for atomic energy.

THE B. H. S. BAND

To you, the student body, it may not have been a very important occasion when the Meriden High Band came and played in a gymnasium. To our band it was the culmination of a work which began early in January. Previous to this, our band went to Meriden for the first of the exchange concerts. You see the polished results of many hours of practice at the football games, concerts, and Class Day. As a band member, I know of the work and effort. I have seen a broad grin spread over Mr. Corley's face as he slowly takes off and folds his sport jacket. This act is a surer sign of work than any amount of talk. Without the common bonds of music, the band would be a group of individuals; with music the band is a unit, all its members working together.

The Joslin' Ensemble

Fifteen students seeking to develop skill in the interpretation of classical music through diligent practice every week make up the Orpheus Ensemble. The organization was formed not for the glory of performance, but for the genuine desire of its members to gain a wider appreciation and knowledge of fine music. These accomplished musicians emerge from their practice only once. This occurs at the close of the year at senior award night. Appreciation for their contribution comes with the realization that music adds unity and completeness to Brookline High.

Vocal Ensemble

The corridors of Brookline High School, on December 23rd, resounded with the spirit of Christmas. Stopping at each door along the way, the members of the Vocal Ensemble caroled the familiar music that has come to be associated with this holiday. The group gave to the students and the teachers alike a pleasant diversion from the daily grind. We would like to thank the Vocal Ensemble for the time and effort spent in rehearsing for the performance that added so much to the day and cheered our tired, homework-racked bodies.

Our Joslin' Philharmonics

Mr. Unity, a permanent guest at Brookline High School, has been around to make sure that the Orchestra adopts his veritable principles. Rehearsing weekly for their many performances, the Orchestra members pool their talents into one musical shell, while building up their repertoire under the direction of Mr. Joslin. Remember how their performance in the pit added to the enjoyment and professional air of Goodbye My Fancy, and to the entertainment at the Jay Murray Kay Prize Speaking Contest. At daytime assemblies, evening performances, or weekly rehearsals, the Orchestra represents a group of students with a common interest, working to achieve worthwhile results.

Merry Music Makers

The word "cultural" in UNESCO means illuminating with heart, spirit, and intellect our belief in the dignity of man and in the ideal of a friendly society of nations. The Music Society specializes in illuminating with heart and spirit our feeling for music. The performance of the various musicians in a band is carefully studied and lectures are often presented on some phase of music or type of musical instrument. Those interested in furthering their appreciation of music and their knowledge of the great masters are welcomed at these meetings. The music society has one major aim that is to culturally develop the minds of its members.

Gleeful Glee Club

Another field in which culture can be assimilated with UNESCO is the Choral Society. The Choral Society, with its musical director, Mr. Joseph, concentrates on the vocal interpretation of music. This club is given an opportunity to effect the culture of Brookline High School for they assist in and add to many of the school functions. The students participating in this organization present, in conjunction with the band, many musical programs during the course of the year. Let us hope that the generation growing up in this atmosphere of unity and co-operation will practise and remember it in years to come.

Here at B. H. S., Marisa Gori is doing her best to revive an interest in the Latin language. The Latin Club, through the study of the Roman empire, has been able to gain a greater appreciation of the language that, although considered dead, is one of the greatest languages the world has ever known. The new members each year are initiated with the traditional toga ceremony, calling back their ancient culture. This Club lends a broad understanding of the language to all Latin students.

Le Cercle Francais

When one attends a session of the General Assembly, it is customary to don a set of earphones, in order to hear the translation of the speeches in the various languages. Although English is now considered the language of diplomacy, French is still, the language of European society. It holds its place of importance for reasons other than its beauty alone.

To help keep the language popular, the B. H. S. French Club sponsors meetings which sharpen the members' ears to spoken French, and provides French history and culture. At one meeting, a Miss Pistin lectured on the French Renaissance, bringing out many facts about eighteenth century France. Whenever a French production comes to Boston, the members are off in full array to see it. In affording practical training to our high school students, Le Cercle Francais is a valuable asset to B. H. S.

Education of oneself is most important before attempting to educate others. Affiliated with UNESCO, the Literary Society issues an annual pamphlet, the Literary Leaves, which represents an attempt to clarify and contribute thoughts and discoveries of interest to the receptive student body.

In looking into the future, we must be prepared to recognize and cope with many problems. The members of the Literary Society try to keep alive the desire for that understanding through the concentrated efforts of a reading and writing group. Theirs is a wholesome interest in education.

SOCIAL CUSTOMS

Here at B. H. S. we have the prominent Social Customs Club, a council on the use of proper etiquette and social customs. One of its more enlightening meetings, with a foreign motif, we held just before Christmas. Students from Denmark, Sweden, and Japan were invited as guest speakers to explain the social customs practised during the holiday season in their respective countries. Although these students had varied backgrounds, the spirit of Christmas and what it stands for permitted everyone to enjoy, if only for a few hours, the common bonds of brotherhood.

This organization, with the co-operation of the many member nations, provides specialists who aid unfortunate states in an attempt to make them self-sufficient. Our Lunchroom Staff works in much the same way. Each day they are faced with the task of feeding a meal to a crowd of half-starved, undernourished students. Perhaps some of the students lose their appetite when they enter our clean, quiet and bright lunchroom; if everyone left the lunchroom as clean as they found it what an impossible idea.

Closely parallel to this work is that of the Sagamore which has been covering the affairs of B. H. S. for over sixty years. It is interesting to note how the United Nations Bulletin so closely matches the Sagamore in its respective duties and accomplishments. Turning back to the first issue of the Sagamore in 1893, we find a pamphlet of a few columns. Since then, it has grown and kept its pace with the school so successfully that B. H. Related to the United Nations Annual Report, The Students' Manual publishes a bulletin on the goings-on within Brookline High School. With its wide field of information, key to the floor plans, bell schedules, and student songs and cheers it has proven to be a necessity to the majority of students. If you turn to the description of student government, activities, school scholarship and honor credits, you will discover that it is a pair of spectacles not only for freshmen, but for upper classmen as well. This traditional feature is the student's guide throughout his four years of high school.

Baseball

Once again the famous American battlecry of "play ball" is heard as the varsity baseball team invades Tech. Field. Brookline has one of the strongest infields in the league and a powerful offensive punch. Bad luck seems to have unraveled a long string this year. A broken leg sustained by both John Clausen and Eric Horter has greatly weakened this year's battery. Because there are so many juniors on the team, we are assured of a fine team next year. Coach Fitzgerald always does a fine job in welding nine men into a single unit which is so often unbeatable —he's done it again this year.

Basketball

The 1953-54 basketball season was marred by repeated heart-breaking losses by only two and three points and a team loss of Co-Captain John Clausen who sustained a broken leg midway through the season. This loss left Co-Captain Jim Burke the only veteran on the team.

The Newton game of January 22nd was, by far, the most exciting game of the season. The varsity, inspired to "win it for Clausen," defeated favored Newton 52-50 on the strength of Jimmy Dewire's last-second shot. This game, however, was the end of the winning trail as Brockton edged Brookline 53-51 a few days later, setting the pattern for the seven consecutive losses that were to follow — that the team held together so well was enough to overshadow all disappointments and to turn in a successful year.

Football

Considering that Coach Downes had to rebuild his entire squad, the team had a good year. In the Newton game, which we lost by one point, the spirit and ability of our boys was clearly evident. Charlie Ritter, Tom Taylor and Eric Horter sparked a second half revival which amazed everybody at the game. A brighter picture was furnished the day that Brookline massacred Brockton by a score of 47-13. Co-Captain Sullivan and Charlie Ritter each scored twice, while Co-Captain Dick Meany and Fred Maher blocked the opposing line until it was practically helpless. Wait until next year. We will have an even better season!

Golf

Although some people do not appreciate the art of knocking a little white ball into a hole in the ground, it is very difficult to attain true proficiency in the sport of golf. The members of the golf team have become quite expert at their chosen sport, to the consternation of the opposition from suburban schools. Led by Captain Jimmy Hughes and Peter Barber, the team showed much improvement over last years' team. Next year promises to be even more successful.

Hockey

Not content with the superb job turned in last year by the hockey team, the pucksters went on to another great season this year. An undefeated season with only one tie has bought for Brookline the Suburban League Championship. This one tie of the regular season was produced by our old rival Malden Catholic which has managed to ruin our record for the last two years. Responsible for the excellence of the team is a combination of factors which include rising in the middle of the night to practice, using the knowledge and guidance of Coach McCann to its best advantage, and taking advantage of the spirit and ability of a winning team. It's a great team — the boys have the right to be the first people to admit it.

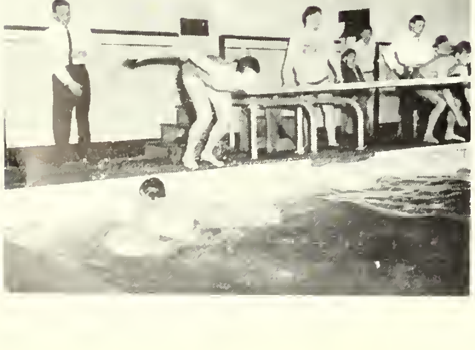
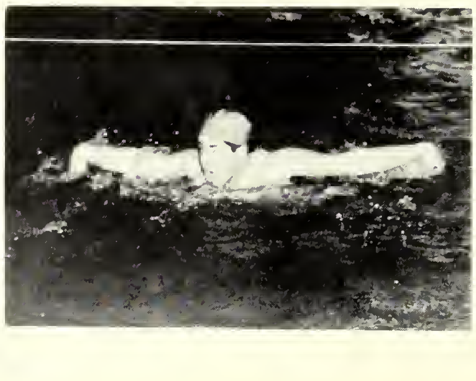
March	20	Meehan Meet at Pawtucket	4th place

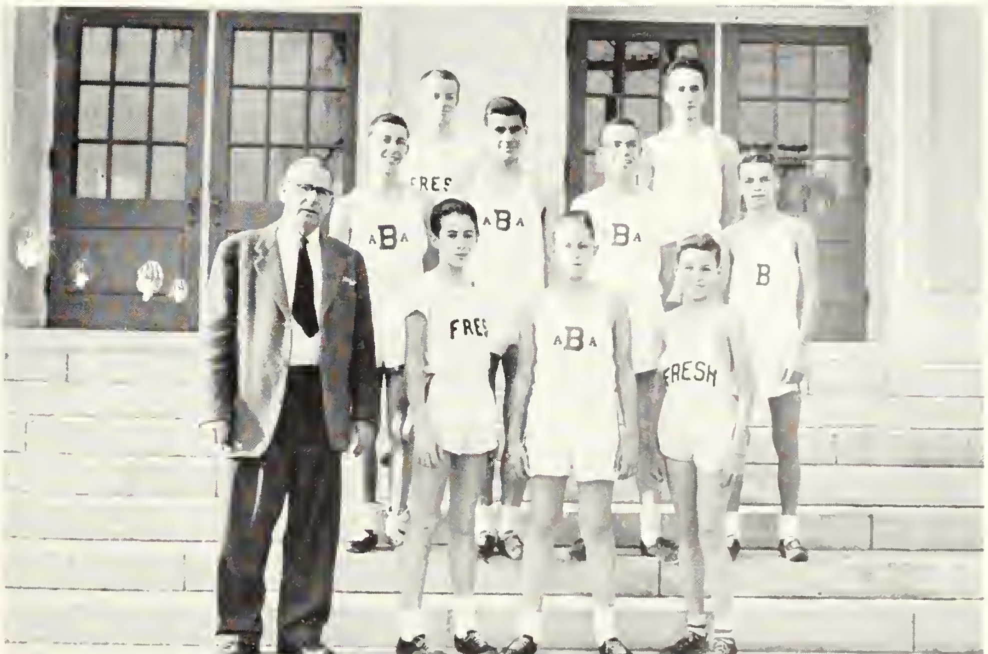




Cross Country

The cross country track team will probably be quite willing to admit that it is often impossible to consistently have a winning year. This year was not the best as far as the won and lost column was concerned, but the team does deserve credit for doing the best it could do. David Campana, Dave Wells, and Elliot Pearlman led the team on, never losing a meet without giving the opposition a good fight.

ONLY 120 YARDS TO GO!



ROW 1: Mr. Weygant, Hindalian, Winer, Citron. ROW 2: Flink, Pearlman, Campana, Moncrief.
ROW 3: Borden, Rambler.

Spring and Winter Track

This season the track team suffered from a weak showing after the loss of five State champs in 1953. However, two of the meets were only lost by two events and this is not indicated through the difference of point score. One of these close meets was against the very powerful Rindge Tech. This meet with the Cambridge boys was certainly a moral victory for the track team led by Captain Tommy Sullivan, State Champ Dave Campana, 300 yarder Charlie Ritter, and the only once defeated, House McNulty. Although, this season can not be classified as successful, many new faces made an appearance and promise to provide a winning season in '55 for Coach Weygant.

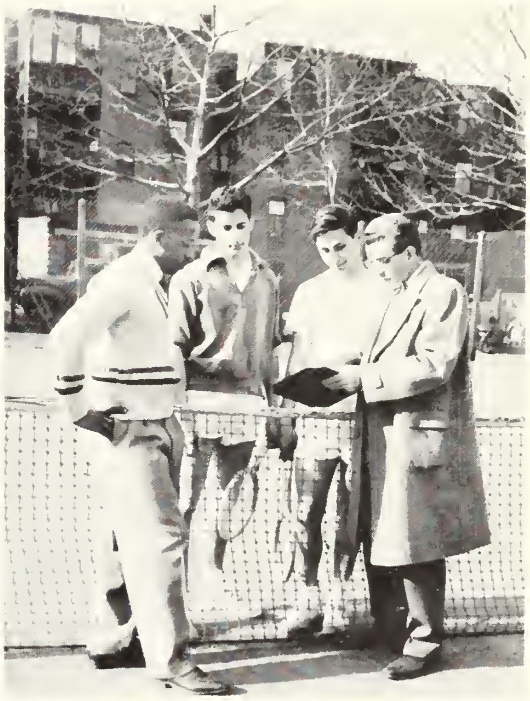
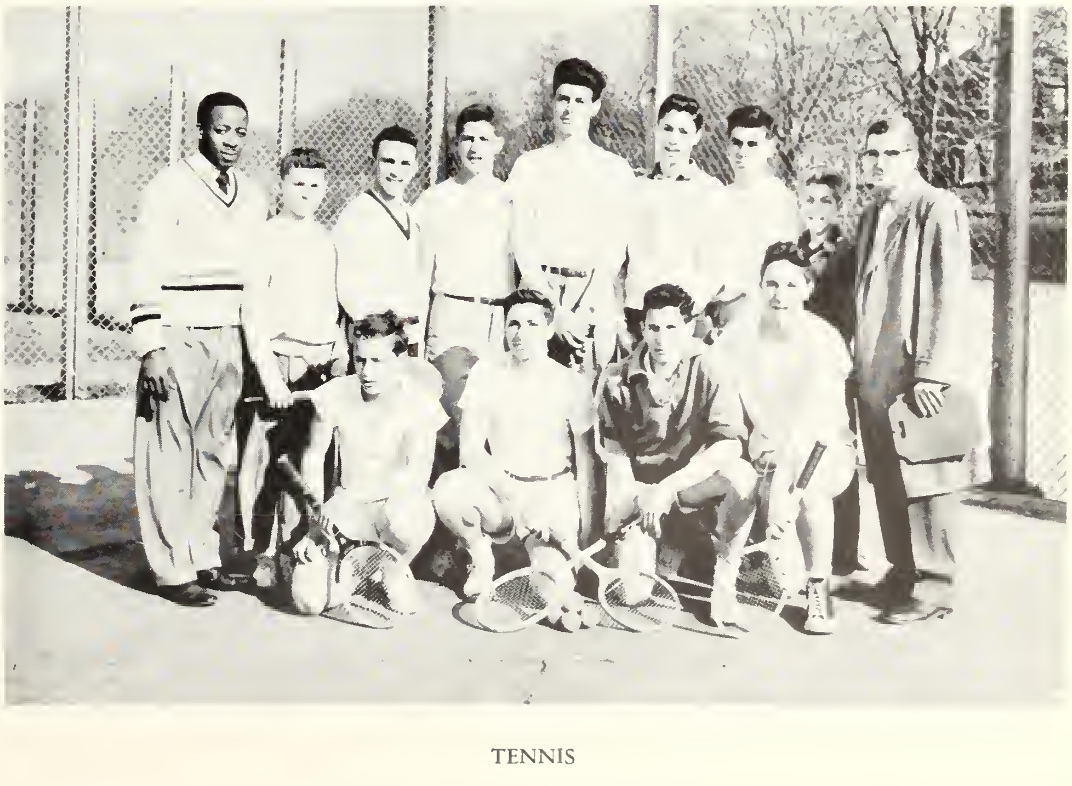
Tennis

Thanks to Coaches Jackie Robinson and Mr. McCabe it was an enlivened and eager tennis team that was prepared to meet its opponents this year. A tournament to determine the team standing started early in the fall but was not completed until the end of March. Indoor practice sessions had begun in March, but the team did not have good weather to begin outdoor practice until early April. From that time on the team made rapid strides in its playing ability. Being led by Co-captains Dave Silbert and Arnie Butter and several veterans, the team has set off for a very successful season this year, despite the tought schedule.





TENNIS

ROW 1: Friedman, Co-Capt. Butter, Co-Capt. Silbert, Freedman.

OLD ENGLISH "B"

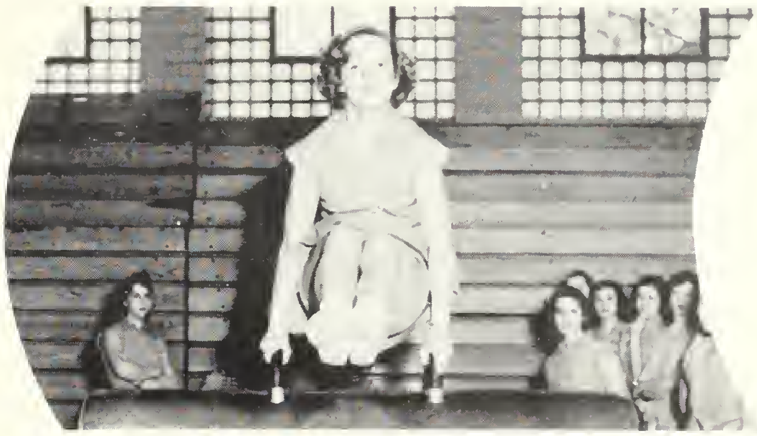
Gym Team

ROW 1: Walk, Levin, Fine, Kripps, Lejins, Ginsberg, Kopans.
ROW 2: Zurkin, Fineberg, Thall, Offenbach, Schneider, Garber, Schneider.
ROW 3: Rosenthal, Golder, Hubbler, Jaffee, Sadolf, Goldberg.



Hockey

Unlike the heroic boys who need a cheering section in back of them to win a game, the hockey team gets along excellently with little enough school support. This could be attributed to the fact that they have a cheering section built into the team. No matter how they do it, they are always turning out winning teams, and this year was no exception.

ROW 1: G. Greene.
ROW 2: L. Greene, Kostick, Sideris, Sugameto, Chernick.
ROW 3: Sclare.

Riding

From whence cometh the fair maids who trot or canter down the bridal paths at the Wright Stables? Making their first attempts at riding in the autumn, the girls are not so graceful as they might want to be. In the spring there comes more lessons and the prowess that goes with them. Thus emerge the young equestriennes who are quite able to show their riding ability to all.

MODERN DANCING

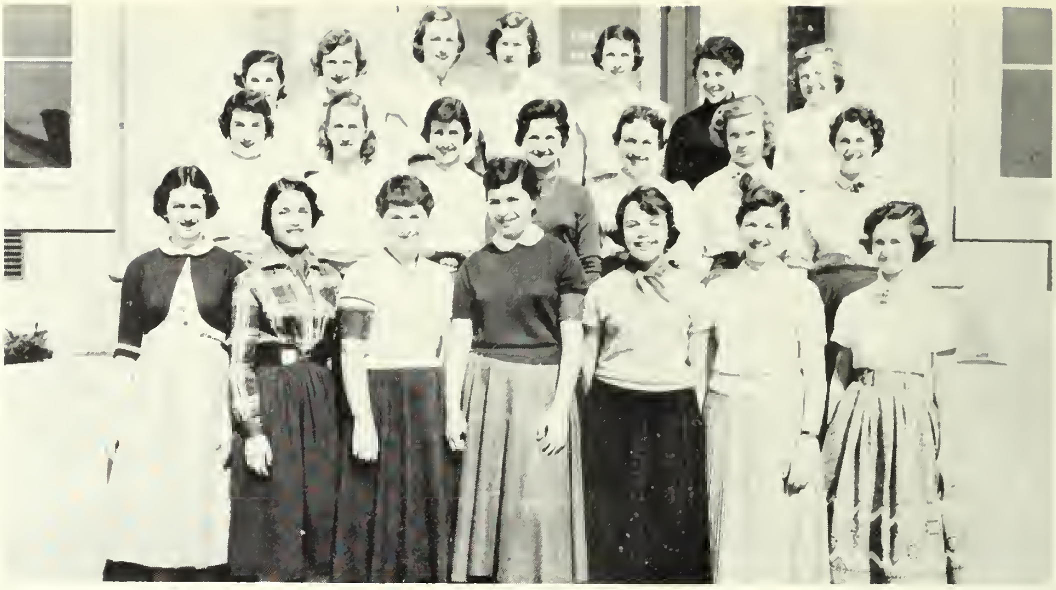
ROW 1: Markson, Adelson, Greenblatt, Phillips, Offenbach, Poley, Haaxma, Rittenberg, Catoof, Thall.
ROW 2: Ginsburg, Cooper, Welz, Chasnoff, Bornstein, Brooks, Buckman, Savel, Ruggles, Sac, Moscowitz, London, Kreuger.
ROW 3: Ziskind, Bisazza, Cohen, Segal, Gilbert, Waldman, Segal, Sadolf, Goldman, Skolnick, Orenberg, Holden.

Modern Dancing

Some people relax while listening to music, others dance, still others draw, but in the 50x50 room a large group of girls enjoy stretching their limbs and lying on the floor. This group enjoys what is commonly considered as modern dancing. Having never taken part in such a class, I don't know whether I would enjoy it, obviously, though, the girls do like it.

Swimming

Only for a moment was the MURIVIAN deceived by a group of beauties splashing in the pool. Although we may have thought of mermaids, we were able to discern Joan Ettinger, captain of the swimming team, in the group. The logical surmise from this observation would be that the girls swimming team was having their weekly session. How the staff of the MURIVIAN entered the pool will be discussed at a later date.



ROW 1: Fine, Solomon, Markun, Ettinger, Kesselman, Klayman, Klayman.
ROW 2: Queen, Landis, Biller, Kramer, Resnick, Johnson, Gross.
ROW 3: Stonman, Fineberg, Stone, Nichols, Conly, Novick, Perrault.

Tennis

There is more than one way to catch the male eye. The girls who dress up in white and swing a tennis racquet are practising a very advanced technique. All the girls who play tennis find it a very useful social asset, but they find that it is best not to be to accomplished when playing male opposition. Of course, when they play among themselves, we may see some very fine competition.

Cheerleaders

After their wonderful support of the athletic events this year, our cheerleaders certainly deserve a cheer from the students and the members of the various teams. If the cheerleaders claim some of the credit for our victories, they certainly are entitled to it. We think that the teams would back us on that score.

ROW 1: Anthony. ROW 2: Noonan, Rose, Landon. ROW 3: Anese, Insoft, Zola, May, Michalson. LeGacy, Johnson, Morgan, Manning.

Drum Majorettes

It happened in Meriden, Conn. Our band was playing for the students when suddenly there was a tremendous burst of applause — our majorettes had just entered the auditorium. Wherever they go, it seems that they receive an equally powerful reception. Perhaps it is their precision or twirling ability; however, it may be something else.

PACKARD HOUSE

The members of Packard House are prepared to assume the responsibilities that are always delegated to the senior house. The main duty of this house is to continue to unite in an ever closer bond all the houses so that the school may be a better and stronger unit. The house may well be proud of its outstanding members in athletics, student government, and scholarship. It is not the individuals that are most important: all the members work and play together to achieve a powerful and co-ordinated group which is a fine symbol for the lowerclassmen to follow. We're leaving it up to you Packard House — do a good job.

SHAILER HOUSE

Hope you don't mind if we consider you as upperclassmen, but it will be so in a short while for the seniors have already retired. You have completed a very successful year and it is well that you did because you shall have even more work this coming year. Packard House will do a lot of the work in training the underclassmen, but they can not be expected to do it all. You must do your share by helping out whenever possible. Just because you have great athletes and scholars, don't get any ideas about retiring — you still have two years to go. These next years will mean a lot to you. We think that you can do a great job. Good luck.

ROBERTS HOUSE

Rumor has it that your house has done all right for its first year in Brookline High School. Of course you are expected to keep working very hard as all underclassmen should. You're really a very important part of the school's unity for you must not only prepare yourself for next year but also show the freshmen the rough road that you have so recently trod, and, perhaps, aid them. Keep up the good marks, do your share in extra-curricular activities, and pardon some sentimental seniors for this lecture.
